President Likely to Go Before Congress If Present Negotiations End Without Agreement-Members of Brotherhood Committee Leave Washington-Latest Developments in the Controversy.

Washington, Aug. 28.-Belief that negotiations between the railroad executives and representatives of the brotherhood organizations would end without an agreement has been growing since Saturday.

This feeling was strengthened when the members of the brotherhood committee of 640, tired of their long wait. departed for home after delegating their powers to effect a settlement or call a strike to a committee of twentyfour, instructed under no circumstances to agree to arbitration of the demand for an eight-hour day at the present rate of pay for ten hours.

Possibilities of legislation were talked over by the president with Senator Newlands, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, and Secretary Lane. Later the president made a quiet trip to the senate office building to confer with Senator Kern and others.

Whether the plans considered by President Wilson and his advisers at the Capitol will be carried out depends upon developments, but it is understood that if all efforts fail to bring the employers and their men together the president will go before Congress and ask that it deal with the situation, even if that necessitates in definitely prolonging the present Bession.

Unless the railroad heads reced from their demand for arbitration of the eight-hour day proposal, one brotherhood head said, a strike affecting about 400,000 men will be called within the next ten days. Representatives of both the raitways and the brotherhoods neld another conference with the president today. The executives of the lines presented the plan to which they agreed finally Saturday. Its outstanding feature is a demand for arbitration of wages under the eight-hour day or any day. When they departed the brotherhood heads acting under instructions received from the committee of 640 went to the White House and apprised President Wilson that they could not accept arbitration of this feature of their demand and that in general they stood on his proposal, made a week ago, to concede the eight-hour principle and arbitrate the other issues.

Passing of the "5c. Loaf."

The announcement that, in all probability the five-cent loaf of bread will disappear from the bakers' shelves within with broken boots and ragged coats missed the case. the next few month, comes not entirely as a surprise to the public.

The very marked rise in the price of wheat, unusual in And some were lame and some were that it occurred before the bulk of the wheat crop had passed out of the hands of the producer and under the control of the speculators and market manipulators, prophesied, with some But floating bravely over head degree of accuracy, the workings of the laws of supply and demand which would make wheat "high" at least until the When fell the battle's leaden rain, next crop is harvested.

With the price of wheat so high it means that the miller must have more for his flour and the baker more for his bread And raised his dying head to see and that the ultimate consumer must pay the increased cost

All of which barring unjust manipulations of finances or markets, is perfectly just and, as a rule satisfactory to the And vanished in the rolling smoke, consumer.

Of course, everyone would much prefer that no increase be made in the price of bread but there is less probability of an unnecessary advance in bread than in any other article of The simple stone of Betsy Ross

From our earliest recollection bread has been five cents a loaf and a change in price means one more loved custom and recollection shattered—all on account of the war.

Perhaps when the war ends or when the great gates of the And every man is proud to yeild Dardanelles swing open we will go back to the "5-cent loaf" -perhaps. And again perhaps prosperity and increased demand will bar the return of the good old days.

A Few Facts

It is well, right at the beginning of the movement for a charter form of government for Washington that we all have a clear realization of some very important facts.

The first and most important thing to realize is that poli-ly cloudy tics must be cast aside. That must be a reality and not a mere

Should, by any mishap, the charter government fall into the hands of politicians and should politics control in the selection of commission or manager and direct the official conduct, conditions would be infinitely worse than they are now because of the concentration of power and the direct results of such an administration.

Another important fact to realize is that our representative citizens—our busy business men—who are to be excused for their lack of interest in affairs under present slip shod governmental plan, must firmly resolve to take a hand in the new regime if it is adopted.

Everyone will be compensated by the public advancement. Public business will then be transacted along business lines and with business like promptness-provided always that business men do not create a valuable piece of machinery and turn it over to incompetents to break up.

Unless our responsible citizens will cast politics to the four winds and assist in the actual work they had better stop right now and allow official conditions, unsatisfactory as they are, to remain unchanged.

Something Unique

"Closed by order of the Board of Health." That's what is hung across the roadway of the Main street bridge.

If ever before in this county a bridge has been allowed to remain in such an abominable condition of dilapidation that filed with J. T. Botkin, secretary of the board of health was compelled to close it to traffic no one remembers it. It's unique.

Whether Health Officer Byron and his associates were justified in closing and placarding the South Main street bridge by the laws of the state we do not know. That they were justified by a unanimous public demand and an urgent public need is certain.

The condition of the bridge had become a menace to public health because of the awful noise every passing vehicle made.

In closing the bridge-abating the nuisance and removing a menace officer Byron did exactly right. He has the sup port of practically every resident of the city. Legal or not matters but little-it was right and we must presume it was

Just why this bridge has not been refloored-why the work was not done while the street was closed and why no move is made now to relieve against abominable conditions is one of those inexplicable lapses which occur in the public ser-

Washington people can be thankful for a Board of Health unafraid to lay hold of conditions when other officials whose duty it is to better conditions fail or refuse to do their duty.

If Washington people can't have a floor put in the Main street bridge, they at least through the action of the Board of Health can have their new twenty thousand dollar street closed to traffic and have peace.

Jones of the State works here, recently inscribed his name university declares were the property and address on the face of an old of a three toed horse of the upper miocene age have been unearthed in the Washoe valley, on the Pedroli ranch, by university engineers.

Professor Jones says the horse probably roamed the wilds of Nevada some 3,000,000 years ago.

He says the horses of that date were even smaller than the Shetlands of the present day, and are classified as the eohippus. The specimens were found in a well which apparently penetrated a prehistoric lake bed. Teeth of mammoths, fossil leaves and other specimens of prehistoric ages have been found in wells on the Pedroli ranch. They are among the best in the fossil collection at the university, as they show clearly the age and classification to which they belong.

War Against Germany Is Formally Declared.

ANNOUNCEMENT AT ROME

Italian Troops Can Now Be Dispatched to Any Front That the Allies May Desire-Italy's Step Anticipated, as the Nations Had Been Drifting Apart-Progress of the Campaign.

Rome, Aug. 28.-It was announced officially here that Italy has declared war against Germany.

Both nations have been drifting steadily toward war. In fact, Italy's formal declaration amounts to little more than official recognition of a state of affairs which already existed. The declaration became inevitable when Italy recently sent troops to Saloniki to co-operate in the campaign of the entente allies on the Macedonion front, as Germany is directing the opposing forces and has troops on this battle line.

The increasing co-operation among the entente allies and the necessity for bringing into service Italy's surplus troops, which could not be employed on the other fronts without bringing on war with Germany, gradwally brought Italy into such a position that it became evident a declaration of hostilities against Germany was only a matter of time.

The first over act in this direction occurred shortly after the Paris conference, probably as a result of it. On Feb. 29. Italy requisitioned thirty-four of the thirty-seven German steamshes interned in Italian ports to help meet the pressing needs of the allies for shipping facilities. Italy's action probably will have little effect on the military situation in the immediate future, atlhough as the war goes on it may have a more important bearing. On the Austro-Italian front Italy finds active use for hardly more than half of her army, and in future can send available troops to any front. Having committed herself already to the Macedonian campaign, Italy's step is of no significance as respects that heater of war. Germany hereafter will be free to take such part in the Austro-Italian campaign as may be decided on by the Teutonic allies. Day's Operations.

Berlin reports that Bulgarian forces operating to the west of Lake Ochrida have captured Malik in Albania and that along the Struma King Ferdinand's men are approaching the mouth of the river. Paris admits the Bulgars have taken all except one of the forts at Kavala, on the Aegean, but says the newly acquired positions have come under the fire of British warships. Paris says also that along the Struma French artillery is bombarding the enemy, while west of the Vardar and near Lake Ostrovo, the Serbs have put down vigorous attacks by the Bulgarians.

Despite bad weather there has been considerable fighting and a renewal capture of 200 yards of a German trench north of Bazentin-le-Petit and a further gain northwest of Ginchy. Berlin says that British attacks south of Thiepval, northwest of Pozieres and north of Bazentin-le-Petit were without success.

Paris records only the repulse of German attacks along the line held skidded and struck the fence at the by the French. These attacks were especially violent in the Vaux-Chapitre wood of the Verdun sector, in Lorraine and in the Apremont forest. The Russians, for some time inactive in the Riga region, again have started an offensive. However, their efforts to cross the Dvinia river southeast of Riga and also near Friedrichstadt failed.

In the Caucasus region, Petrograd reports a Russian success over the Turks along the Masladarasi river. Hard fighting is in progress near Diarbekr between the Russians and

The truest and most devoted friend that man ever had is the little manimate bundle of nerves that stands guard by his bedside through the dead hours of the nights, its palpitar ing little heart spreading cheer and confidence over the surrounding gloom. Yet man often forgets the debt of gratitude he owes this faithful and tireless little friend for the sleepless watchful hours it subjects itself to in order that he may slumber in security and comfort, and when it sings its merry morning lay I have seen him, instead of bestowing fond caresses, reach from his warm quilis, grasp it ruthlessly and slam it into the farthest and darkest corner of the room, crushing the dainty hands that seemed uplifted in an attitude of horror and protection and unworthy reproaches as these, "Damn that blinkety-blank alarm clock anyhow!" then return to his snoring!-Zim, in Cartoons Maga-

Big Drop in Wheat Today Due to Recent Photograph of the Italian Roumania's Entrance Into War and Release of Vast Stores of Wheat on Black Sea.

The big drop of wheat Monday, when the price went down 11 cents on the bushel, is due to Roumania's entrance into the war, and the belief existing among grain dealers all over the United States that the Dardanelles will soon be opened, releasing from 200,000,000 to 240,-200,000 bushels of wheat said to be in the Black Sea ports awaiting such an event.

The price of wheat dropped to $1.35 per bushel in this city, or a fall of 10 cents per bushel.

Series Now Stands One Each -Big Bunch of Local Fans Journey to Wilmington for Game.

By a score of 8 to 7 the Clintons of Wilmington, defeated the Athletics of this city at Wilmington Sunday afternoon, in a game in which the locals have no alibi to offer.

About 800 enthusiastic fans, many from this city, saw the contest, which though an exciting seesaw game from start to finish was, in many respects very unsatisfactory.

The field was in wretched condition. Pools of mud and water prevented fast fielding and gave an advantage to the home team. Several pop flies which, with the field in good condition, would have been registered as outs had to be tallied

President Likely to Go Before Congress If Present Negotiations End Without Agreement-Members of Brotherhood Committee Leave Washington-Latest Developments in the Controversy.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Belief that negotiations between the railroad executives and representatives of the brotherhood organizations would end without an agreement has been growing since Saturday.

This feeling was strengthened when the members of the brotherhood committee of 640, tired of their long wait. departed for home after delegating their powers to effect a settlement or call a strike to a committee of twentyfour, instructed under no circumstances to agree to arbitration of the present rate of pay for ten hours.

Possibilities of legislation were talked over by the president with Senator Newlands, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, and Secretary Lane. Later the president made a quiet trip to the senate office building to confer with Senator Kern

Whether the plans considered by President Wilson and his advisers at the Capitol will be carried out depends upon developments, but it is understood that if all efforts fail to bring the employers and their men together the president will go before Congress and ask that it deal with the situation, even if that necessitates in definitely prolonging the present

Unless the railroad heads recede from their demand for arbitration of the eight-hour day brotherhood head said, a strike affecting about 400,000 men will be called within the next ten days.

Representatives of both the raitways and the brotherhoods held another conference with the president today. The executives of the lines presented the plan to which they agreed finally Saturday. Its outstanding feature is a demand for arbitration of wages under the eight-hour day or any day. When they departed the brotherhood heads acting under instructions received from the committee of 640 went to the White House and apprised President Wilson that they could not accept arbitration of this feature of their demand and that in general they stood on his proposal, made a week ago, to concede the eight-hour principle and arbitrate the other issues.

The announcement that, in all probability the five-cent loaf of bread will disappear from the bakers' shelves within with broken boots and ragged coats the next few month, comes not entirely as a surprise to the With hoarse defiance in their throats

The very marked rise in the price of wheat, unusual in And some were lame and some were that it occurred before the bulk of the wheat crop had passed out of the hands of the producer and under the control of the speculators and market manipulators, prophesied, with some degree of accuracy, the workings of the laws of supply and demand which would make wheat "high" at least until the when fell the battle's leaden rain, next crop is harvested.

With the price of wheat so high it means that the miller must have more for his flour and the baker more for his bread and that the ultimate consumer must pay the increased cost

All of which barring unjust manipulations of finances or markets, is perfectly just and, as a rule satisfactory to the And vanished in the rolling smoke consumer.

Of course, everyone would much prefer that no increase be made in the price of bread but there is less probability of an unnecessary advance in bread than in any other article of The simple stone of Betsy Ross

From our earliest recollection bread has been five cents a loaf and a change in price means one more loved custom and recollection shattered—all on account of the war.

Perhaps when the war ends or when the great gates of the And every man is proud to yeild Dardanelles swing open we will go back to the "5-cent loaf" -perhaps. And again perhaps prosperity and increased demand will bar the return of the good old days.

A Few Facts

It is well, right at the beginning of the movement for a charter form of government for Washington that we all have a clear realization of some very important facts.

The first and most important thing to realize is that politics must be cast aside. That must be a reality and not a mere

Should, by any mishap, the charter government fall into day, except showers southeast porthe hands of politicians and should politics control in the selection of commission or manager and direct the official con- day. Tuesday fair and warmer duct, conditions would be infinitely worse than they are now, because of the concentration of power and the direct results of such an administration.

Another important fact to realize is that our representative citizens—our busy business men—who are to be excused for their lack of interest in affairs under present slip shod governmental plan, must firmly resolve to take a hand in the new regime if it is adopted.

Everyone will be compensated by the public advancement. Public business will then be transacted along business lines and with business like promptness--provided always that business men do not create a valuable piece of machinery and turn it over to incompetents to break up.

Unless our responsible citizens will east politics to the four winds and assist in the actual work they had better stop right now and allow official conditions, unsatisfactory as they are, to remain unchanged.

Something Unique

"Closed by order of the Board of Health." That's what for state office and the state legislature is hung across the roadway of the Main street bridge.

If ever before in this county a bridge has been allowed to remain in such an abominable condition of dilapidation that filed with J. T. Botkin, secretary of the board of health was compelled to close it to traffic no one remembers it. It's unique.

Whether Health Officer Byron and his associates were justified in closing and placarding the South Main street bridge by the laws of the state we do not know. That they were justified by a unanimous public demand and an urgent public need is certain.

The condition of the bridge had become a menace to public health because of the awful noise every passing vehicle

In closing the bridge-abating the nuisance and remov- On Homes and Farms - The ing a menace officer Byron did exactly right. He has the support of practically every resident of the city. Legal or not matters but little-it was right and we must presume it was

Just why this bridge has not been refloored-why the work was not done while the street was closed and why no move is made now to relieve against abominable conditions is one of those inexplicable lapses which occur in the public ser-

Washington people can be thankful for a Board of Health unafraid to lav hold of conditions when other officials whose duty it is to better conditions fail or refuse to do their duty.

If Washington people can't have a floor put in the Main street bridge, they at least through the action of the Board of Health can have their new twenty thousand dollar street closed to traffic and have peace.

And when the day came up the stair Complete across a carven chair Hung Betsy's battle flag.

NICKELS BUY A MOTORCAR.

Minneapolis Man Saved Bison Branded Coins For Three Years.

Minneapolis.-N. M. Carlson owns the first genuine jitney car in Minneapolis. He acquired it a few days ago. No, he isn't going to haul passengers in it. It's a jitney car because he bought it with jitneys-and buffalo jitneys at that.

Carlson had long yearned for a motorcar. Three years ago he began saving buffalo nickels and sequestering them in a motorcar fund.

Every time he got one of the bison branded coins in change he carefully laid it aside. Slowly the hoard grew until it reached a total of $461.45, the sum the motorcar people demanded for the flivver upon which the engineer's

The deal was made, and Carlson handed his 9,229 buffalo nickels over to the Minneapolis manager of the flivver company and drove away in his shiny new car, the first real jitney car owned in Minneapolis or anywhere

Professor Jones says the horse probably roamed the wilds of Nevada some 3,000,000 years ago, He says the horses of that date were even smaller than the Shetlands of the present day, and are classified as the eohippus. The specimens were found in a well which apparently penetrated a prehistoric lake bed. Teeth of mammoths, fossil leaves and other specimens of prehistoric ages have been found in wells on the Pedroli ranch. They are among the best in the fossil collection at the university, as they show clearly the age and classification to which they belong.

War Against Germany Is Formally Declared.

ANNOUNCEMENT AT ROME

Italian Troops Can Now Be Dispatched to Any Front That the Allies May Desire-Italy's Step Anticipated, as the Nations Had Been Drifting Apart-Progress of the Campaign.

Rome, Aug. 28.-It was announced officially here that Italy has declared war against Germany.

Both nations have been drifting steadily toward war. In fact, Italy's formal declaration amounts to little more than official recognition of a state of affairs which already existed. The declaration became inevitable when Italy recently sent troops to Saloniki to co-operate in the campaign of the entente allies on the Macedonion front, as Germany is directing the opposing forces and has troops on this battle line.

The increasing co-operation among the entente allies and the necessity for bringing into service Italy's surplus troops, which could not be employed on the other fronts without bringing on war with Germany, gradwally brought Italy into such a position that it became evident a declaration of hostilities against Germany was only a matter of time.

The first over act in this direction occurred shortly after the Paris conference, probably as a result of it. On Feb. 29, Italy requisitioned thirty-four of the thirty-seven German steamships interned in Italian ports to help meet the pressing needs of the allies for shipping facilities. Italy's action probably will have little effect on the military situation in the immediate future, atlhough as the war goes on it may have a more important bearing. On the Austro-Italian front Italy finds active use for hardly more than half of her army, and in future can send available troops to any front. Having committed herself already to the Macedonian campaign, Italy's step is of no significance as respects that theater of war. Germany hereafter will be free to take such part in the Austro-Italian campaign as may be decided on by the Teutonic allies.

Berlin reports that Bulgarian forces operating to the west of Lake Ochrida have captured Malik in Albania and that along the Struma King Ferdinand's men are approaching the mouth of the river. Paris admits the Bulgars have taken all except one of the forts at Kavala, on the Aegean, but says the newly acquired positions have come under the fire of British warships. Paris says also that along the Struma French artillery is bombarding the enemy, while west of the Vardar and near Lake Ostrovo, the Serbs have put down vigorous attacks by the Bulgarians.

Despite bad weather there has been of mine warfare along the British front in France. London reports the capture of 200 yards of a German trench north of Bazentin-le-Petit and a further gain northwest of Ginchy. Berlin says that British attacks south and north of Bazentin-le-Petit were is probable fatally hurt. without success.

Paris records only the repulse of German attacks along the line held skidded and struck the fence at the by the French. These attacks were first turn. The Russians, for some time in active in the Riga region, again have started an offensive. However, their efforts to cross the Dvinia river southeast of Riga and also near Friedrichstadt failed.

In the Caucasus region, Petrograd reports a Russian success over the Turks along the Masladarasi river Hard fighting is in progress near Diarbekr between the Russians and Ottomen.

DARDANELLES TO BE OPENED, SAY

Roumania's Entrance Into War and Release of Vast Stores of Wheat on Black Sea.

The big drop of wheat Monday when the price went down 11 cents on the bushel, is due to Roumania's entrance into the war, and the belief existing among grain dealers all over the United States that the Dardanelles will soon be opened, releasing from 200,000,000 to 240, 200,000 bushels of wheat said to be in the Black Sea ports awaiting such an event.

The price of wheat dropped to $1.35 per bushel in this city, or a fall of 10 cents per bushel.
